

The Rebels Den

Submission Agreement

All queries and questions if not answered on our FAQ page can be directed to submit@therebelsden.com

Please note only queries, submissions and questions sent to the email will get a response.
Reaching out on social media will not be answered.

Queries for contributors

Please familiarize yourself with our platform - our mission and what we stand for.

In your email query also include a short bio, what you would like to write about and link to your blog and social media accounts. If we cannot find you, we will not publish you.

Please do not send full articles in the submission query.

Content

Submissions can be in the form of an article, interview, video with transcription, poetry, works of art.

Videos should be emailed to me via dropbox or google drive or uploaded to YouTube. I am asking for transcription for those who prefer to read rather than watch a Video.

Interviews can either be someone that you interview or it can be me interviewing you.

Original content is preferred but I am open to the notion to repurpose a blog post as long as it has not been published anywhere else.

The Rebels Den

Submission Agreement

Please do not riddle your submission with self-promotion that is what your bio is for. I am not against a link or two if it's relatable to the content of your submission. I do reserve the right to say it has too many links and then you'll have the choice to change it or not submit it!

All works of art must be your own unless you have explicit permission from the original artists that it can be shared for commercial purpose. You must include the name and any related links to the artist and the work, given proper credit.

Your photos should be clear and appropriate to the content.

The Rebels Den reserves the right to edit/crop or not use the photographs.

The Requirements

Wordcount 500+

Bio (2-3 sentences), links to all the things (website, social media) and a picture of you.

Please do make sure to check for spelling and grammar errors. Please note, that I may edit your submission (spelling, grammar, punctuation). But I don't want to spend my day doing this.

Please do not hyperlink anything within the submission. Simply add it as a parenthesis.

You agree that your contributions are your own and you give me (Petra Monaco) and The Rebels Den permission to use them on the website and the email list.

The Rebels Den will not accept any responsibility for any copyright or ownership infringement made by the contributors.

The Rebels Den

Submission Agreement

What you will receive

Contributors are not paid at this time, but you will have the Author byline at the end of your contribution to share your work via links and how people can connect with you.

The Rebels Den will promote you and your contribution to our social media platforms.

The Rebel Den asks that you share your contribution with a link to either your blog post or social media platforms.

Checklist

Full Name

Email address

Links to all the things (website + social)

Title of Submission

File attached as a Google doc or PDF

Photos

Bio

Bio Photo

After reading this agreement please send an email to submit@therebelsden.com with your query and that you have read this and agree to these terms and conditions.

I cannot wait to hear from you!